this book provides perspectives on the convergence of ubiquitous computing intelligent systems research and context awareness with the aim of encouraging the further development of ambient intelligence frameworks and research in authoring autism m remi yergeau defines neurodivergence as an identity neuroqueerness rather than an impairment using a queer theory framework yergeau notes the stereotypes that deny autistic people their humanity and the chance to define themselves while also challenging cognitive studies scholarship and its reification of the neurological passivity of autistics they also critique early intensive behavioral interventions which have much in common with gay conversion therapy and questions the ableist privileging of intentionality and diplomacy in rhetorical traditions using storytelling as their method they present an alternative view of autistic rhetoricity by foregrounding the cunning rhetorical abilities of autistics and by framing autism as a narrative condition wherein autistics are the best equipped people to define their experience contending that autism represents a queer way of being that simultaneously embraces and rejects the rhetorical yergeau shows how autistic people queer the lines of rhetoric humanity and agency in so doing they demonstrate how an autistic rhetoric requires the reconceptualization of rhetoric s very essence in ambient rhetoric thomas rickert seeks to dissolve the boundaries of the rhetorical tradition and its basic dichotomy of subject and object with the advent of new technologies new media and the dispersion of human agency through external information sources rhetoric can no longer remain tied to the autonomy of human will and cognition as the sole determinants in the discursive act rickert develops the concept of ambience in order to engage all of the elements that comprise the ecologies in which we exist culling from martin heidegger s hermeneutical phenomenology in being and time rickert finds the basis for ambience in heidegger s assertion that humans do not exist in a vacuum there is a constant and fluid relation to the material informational and emotional spaces in which they dwell hence humans are not the exclusive actors in the rhetorical equation agency can be found in innumerable things objects and spaces as rickert asserts it is only after we become attuned to these influences that rhetoric can make a first step toward sufficiency rickert also recalls the foundational greek philosophical concepts of kairos time chora space place and periechon surroundings and cites their repurposing by modern and postmodern thinkers as informational scaffolding for how we reason feel and act he discusses contemporary theory in cognitive science rhetoric and object oriented philosophy to expand his argument for the essentiality of ambience to the field of rhetoric rickert then examines works of ambient music that incorporate natural and artificial sound spaces and technologies finding them to be exemplary of a more fully resonant and experiential media in his preface rickert compares ambience to the fermenting of wine how its distinctive flavor can be traced to innumerable factors including sun soil water region and grape variety the environment and company with whom it s consumed further enhance the taste experience and so it should be with rhetoric to be considered among all of its influences as rickert demonstrates the larger world that we inhabit and that inhabits us must be fully embraced if we are to advance as beings and rhetors within it
