schweitzer s goal in this book is to explore what postmodernity actually means for theology and how theology and the church may respond to its challenges he focuses on the life cycle as it is changing with the advent of postmodernity looking sequentially at segments of the life cycle using different lenses modernity postmodernity and responses from church and theology schweitzer concludes with a theology of the life cycle how do young african americans approach their faith in god when continued violence and police brutality batters the news each day in the spiritual lives of young african americans almeda m wright argues that african american youth separate their everyday lives and their spirituality into mutually exclusive categories this results in a noticeable division between their experiences of systemic injustices and their religious beliefs and practices yet wright suggests that youth can and do teach the church and society myriad lessons through their theological reflections and actions giving special attention to the resources of african american religious and theological traditions wright creates a critical pedagogy for integrating spirituality into the lives of african american youth as well as confronting and navigating spiritual fragmentation and systemic injustice when it comes to learning necessary ministry leadership skills african americans are unique in their view towards traditional theological education they have a historical educational experience that requires anyone attempting to teach them ministry skills to acknowledge the differences in how blacks and whites have learned leadership skills through the history of the united states those who seek to teach these pastors and leaders must be supported by a creative learning process and delivery system that incorporates the felt needs of leaders acknowledges their long held distrust towards traditional white theological educational processes develops a way to have a regular presence and relationship with black churches offers learning experiences that are provided through multiple formats and is taught by instructors who have similar life experiences as the pastors and leaders being taught there are opportunities for traditional seminaries and universities to help meet the needs of african american ministry leaders through the development of programs that take these points into account and create opportunities that make these potential learners feel welcome and accepted as brothers and sisters in christ whose experiences within ministry are valuable and contribute to the building of god s kingdom
