vivienne brough evans proposes a compelling new way of reevaluating aspects of international surrealism by means of the category of divin fou and consequently deploys theories of sacred ecstasy as developed by the collège de sociologie 1937-39 as a critical tool in shedding new light on the literary oeuvre of non french writers who worked both within and against a surrealist framework the minor surrealist genre of prose literature is considered herein rather than surrealism's mainstay poetry with the intention of fracturing preconceptions regarding the medium of surrealist expression the aim is to explore whether international surrealism can begin to be more fully explained by an occluded strain of dissident surrealist thought that searches outside the self through the affects of ekstasis bretonian surrealism is widely discussed in the field of surrealist studies and there is a need to consider what is left out of surrealist practice when analysed through this bretonian lens the collège de sociologie and georges bataille's theories provide a model of such elements of dissident surrealism which is used to analyse surrealist or surrealist influenced prose by alejo carpentier leonora carrington and gellu naum respectively representing postcolonial feminist and balkan locutions the collège and bataille's dissident surrealism diverges significantly from the concerns and approach towards the subject explored by surrealism using the concept of ekstasis to organise bataille's theoretical ideas of excess and inner experience and the collège's thoughts on the sacred it is possible to propose a new way of reading types of international surrealist literature many of which do not come to the forefront of the surrealist literary oeuvre narrative forms to the shifting value of wonder as an emotional experience this thought provoking study proposes a radical new approach to canonical novels such as One Hundred Years of Solitude received as one of the most convincing manifestations of the turn to affect in contemporary latin american critical thought magical realism and the history of the emotions draws on affect theory the history of emotions and new materialism to reframe key questions in latin american literature and culture
